

Studying Tips

By Joseph Pousada
August, 2015

Studying Tips

Read section you are currently covering in class first. Then get started on the assignment problems for that section.

When reading / studying / working on problems, do so in 15 minute increments with approx 5 minute breaks in between.

Studying Tips

- Do all problems you are comfortable with first. If you get stuck just re-read the question and move on to the next question. After doing all problems you are comfortable with take a larger break (i.e. a $\frac{1}{2}$ hour) or even better yet work on the remaining problems the next day (assuming you have time.)
- This will give your subconscious time to work on the problem while you rest and in general make for a less stressful learning experience.